DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-6 and 10-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Turk (3,333,544).

Regarding claim 1, Turk shows an electric motor for a pump drive, including a stator (23) and a rotor (37) for driving a pump impeller (13), the stator being embedded in a plastic body (25) and the plastic body forming a chamber together with the stator in which the rotor is received, the chamber being closed at one shaft end (right, Figure 1) of the rotor and the rotor being connected at the opposite second shaft end (left, Figure 1) to the pump impeller (13).

Regarding claims 2-6 and 10-15, it is noted that Turk also shows all of the limitations of the claimed invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Turk in view of Halm (3,873,861).

Regarding claims 7 and 8, Turk shows all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a journal bearing at the first shaft end.

Halm shows a journal bearing at the first shaft end for the purpose of supporting the rotor rotation.

Since Turk and Halm are all from the same field of endeavor; the purpose disclosed by one inventor would have been recognized in the pertinent art of the others.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to use bearings at both shaft ends as taught by Halm for the purpose discussed above.

6. Claims 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Turk in view of Berger (6,509,668).

Regarding claim 9, Turk shows all of the limitations of the claimed invention except for a coil flux guide connected to the shaft stub ends at both shaft ends.

Berger shows a coil flux guide connected to the shaft stub ends at both shaft ends for the purpose of withstanding high temperatures.

Since Turk and Berger are all from the same field of endeavor; the purpose disclosed by one inventor would have been recognized in the pertinent art of the others.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to use a coil flux guide connected to the shaft stub ends at both shaft ends as taught by Berger for the purpose discussed above.
